

China, U. S. Continue Their Talks No Confirmation Given on Move

Taipei, Formosa, March 5.—Nationalist China and the United States went on with top military talks today amid intense speculation in the Chinese press that the Nationalist might be quitting their Matsu island outposts.

There was no confirmation that Chiang Kai-shek's garrisons would leave the Matsus, 100 miles across the Formosa Strait from the northern tip of this Nationalist island stronghold, but security considerations might blank out any news on that score.

THE MATSU island group is only 20 miles off the Red China mainland. A Red flotilla of 40 gunboats and armed Junks staged a brief attack against one of the smaller Matsu islands yesterday. There was no indication it was anything more than a hit and run raid.

Top level talks proceeded in downtown Taipei.

NEWSPAPERS here speculated that one of the items being discussed was the creation of a joint Nationalist-U.S. defense command in this area.

Among those taking part in the talks were Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet; Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the 7th Fleet; and Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG).

Also at the conference table were Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh, Defense Minister Yu Ta-wei, and the Acting Chief of the General Staff, Gen. Peng Meng-chi.

Nationalist quarters appeared confident of a big boost in the volume of American military aid to Formosa.

Volcano Damage Is $2 Million

Pahoa, Hawaii, March 5 (AP)—Two rivers of lava, fed by two half-mile-long fissures and lava fountains belching 500 feet in the air, moved closer to the sea today, leaving in their wake an estimated two million dollars damage.

Cane fields, timber and at least nine homes were buried in steaming lava. A village of 70 homes was a ghost town, virtually isolated by the molten rivers.

THE LAVA flows may reach the sea today.

This sparsely settled "Puna" district of eastern Hawaii is about half the size of Manhattan. For five days it has rocked and cracked under the strains of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. Four hundred of its residents are homeless.

Twenty square miles of the district, on the gentle slopes of Kilauca, is forbidden to all except civil defense officials and a few property owners. The area is studded with large earth cracks.

Three Die in Fire

Edmeston, March 5 (AP)—Three persons died and six patients were rescued as a roaring fire destroyed a nursing home early today. The victims were Mrs. Adelaide Strait, about 50; her 7-year-old son, Adelbert, and a patient, Shoreham Dennison, about 70. Mrs. Strait, a widow who operated the nursing home, lost her life while trying to rescue her son. Among the patients saved was Mrs. Strait's son, Donald, 27, a spastic invalid.

THE BOARD reportedly felt that Laidlaw, who is retiring at the end of this school year, should receive in his final year of service as much as the newly appointed superintendent, Earl Soper, whose salary will be $12,000 a year.

It was learned also that the pay raise was made applicable to the school year of July 1, 1954, to June 30, 1955.

THE FEELING of the board, it was reported, was that in view of Laidlaw's long years of faithful service to the Kingston school system, he should receive a salary equal to that of superintendents in comparable situations, and that is was only just that he receive the same as that which will be paid the incoming superintendent.

THE BOARD had planned to await the return to the city of Robert Herzog, president, prior to making public announcement of the action. Herzog is expected to return in "a few days," a board member said.

Curriniao town authorities immediately placed the area under alert and some villagers began evacuating their homes, the PNS report said.

A U. S. Navy spokesman here said "we have investigated the reports and have found nothing."

Ex-Convict Slain in Gun Fight

Death Halts 16-Hour Spree

Green River, Wyo., March 5 (AP)—An officer defied threats to a hostage mother and two children to end a killer's 15-hour crime spree with a charge from a sawed-off shotgun last night.

W. G. Sherman, special agent for the Union Pacific Railroad, fired through a window of the embattled home to kill ex-convict Melvin Henry Gray, 27.

GRAY, who earlier killed one man, wounded three others—two fatally—and kidnapped a 17-year-old youth, took refuge in the home of Mrs. Gus Kalivas after a running gunfight through this town of 3,187. It climaxed one of the most intensive man-hunts in Wyoming history.

While the desperado menaced Mrs. Kalivas and two children, one of a score of officers encircling the house called and distracted his attention. Sherman seized the opportunity to sneak unseen to a front window and fired.

The blast caught the killer in the chest. He stumbled into an adjoining bedroom and officers found him dead seconds later. They had shouted at Gray to drop his gun, and one said he replied: "I'm dead, dammit—come and get me."

One of Gray's pursuers, Deputy Sheriff Ed Phillips of nearby Rock Springs, died of his wounds at a hospital there early today. A bullet fired by Gray in a chase through Green River's railroad yards hit Phillips in the chest.

Frank Kulinski, Kemmerer town marshal, was wounded seriously after Gray disarmed him and two companions in the pre-dawn hours at Frontier, Wyo., 87 miles northwest of here. In that same fight, Albert Maffei, 35, Kemmerer garage owner, was killed, and Don Wagner, 35, also of Kemmerer, was wounded slightly.

A YOUNG EVANSTON, Wyo., service station attendant held hostage in his car for more than eight hours, Robert Durrant, was not harmed.

Durrant was robbed at gun-point in the gas station. He later related: "After he took the money, he looked out and saw my new car and asked if it would run. I told him it sure would. I thought he would just take the car. He did, all right—and me with it."

The youth nevertheless expressed surprise at learning what had taken place earlier.

"I didn't even know he had shot anybody before he kidnapped me," he said. "He didn't seem like that sort of person... He never talked much but he seemed like a real nice guy."

Navy Vet Retires At 37, Plans on Gunsmith Course

So you think it's pretty young to be able to retire in your thirties?

Well, Elwood Smith, 37, of 49 Hanratty street, is leaving the U. S. Navy with the rating of chief machinist's mate after 20 years of service. The Freeman learned today.

Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith of the same address, doesn't plan to "retire," however. He's much too young for that.

He is planning to take a 69-week course at the Gunsmith School, Denver, Colo., after which he will return to Kingston and open a small business on the Ontario Trail, catering to fishermen and hunters.

Smith, a native of Kingston, spent 18½ of his 20 years of naval service at sea. He was on the Quincy, a cruiser, at Normandy and served on the same vessel in the South Pacific campaigns. The year and a half he spent ashore were in Cuba.

Esopus Taxpayers Are Firm About Bridge

The Town of Esopus Taxpayers' Association will continue to push for reconstruction of the Eddyville bridge on Route 213, according to J. Grady, president.

Expressing dissatisfaction with a reply received from a State Department of Public Works official, Grady revealed in a letter to the editor of The Freeman today that his association will "follow up this matter carefully," and will solicit assistance of town and county officials to "expedite the removal and replacement of this perilous eyesore that the general public is forced to use extensively in the pursuit of their normal day's activities."

Calls for Boost In Postal Rates To Follow Raises

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Murray (D-Tenn.) called today for another boost in postage rates to follow pay raises which his committee has approved for post office employees.

"There should be a fair increase in rates," he declared, and it should apply to all classes of mail including letters now carried for three cents. He did not go into detail, but said he favored a four-cent charge for letters mailed from one city to another.

MURRAY is chairman of the House Post Office Committee, which yesterday voted an average of 7½ per cent pay raise costing 150 million dollars a year for 518,000 postal workers.

But in Honolulu, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles said "I am still concerned about hostile intentions of the Chinese Communists."

Dulles is en route home after a whirlwind trip through southeast Asia and Formosa. In Taipei Thursday he bluntly warned the Reds they could not expect immunity for their mainland bases if they attacked Formosa.

(A PEIPING broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted two Nationalist fliers as describing Formosa as "panic-stricken" over losses of off-shore islands and by the Reds' professed intent to "liberate" Formosa.)

The Tachen islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were evacuated by the Nationalists under the protection of the U. S. 7th fleet without a shot being fired in early February. The Nationalists later quit Nanchishan, (Continued on Page 11, Col. 6)

FOLLOWING is the text of a letter received by Grady from Henry TenHagen, deputy chief engineer of the State Department of Public Works, dated Feb. 25:

"This department appreciates your concern over the condition of the Eddyville bridge as set forth in your communication of February 12, 1955. I have driven over the Eddyville bridge many times and I can assure you that your claims are not exaggerated. The engineers in this department would welcome the availability of funds to improve the Eddyville bridge and a few other hundred bridges in similar condition and many miles of inadequate highways. I can only inform you that we have it on our program as one of the much needed projects to be taken care of under the proposed bond issue."

"I can appreciate how the people in your area feel about the bridge. We are constantly being reminded of similar conditions throughout the state. However, situations causing delays arise which are beyond our control. You can, however, rest assured that the department has authorized the preparation of plans for the bridge and approaches."

Following are excerpts from Grady's letter to the editor commenting upon TenHagen's communication.

"A matter of public convenience and safety is involved, and yet, again we are notified that at the present time nothing can be done concerning the conditions that exist. Mr. TenHagen, Deputy Chief Engineer of the State Department of Public Works, (Continued on Page 11, Col. 3)

Losses Are Reported After Tips Winchell Denies Ties With Market

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today they are looking into about 20 instances in which big stock market killings may have been made through the spreading of "tips and rumors."

This word came from Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Banking Committee following testimony yesterday that tips given by Walter Winchell on his television show have caused sharp market fluctuations.

THE WITNESS, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than two million dollars in less than an hour and a half.

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago. Again, he said, the tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange had not acted quickly to hold the price down.

WINCHELL, a newspaper columnist and radio and TV commentator, said in New York no one has challenged the accuracy of his report on the company, and that some of the country's more responsible newspapers have confirmed it.

Winchell said he himself has never had any direct or indirect interest in stocks and added in a statement:

"A sound rule is investigate before you invest. Don't buy anything you aren't prepared to hold for 20 years. That's why I buy U. S. government bonds exclusively."

FULBRIGHT told reporters the committee hopes to learn whether anybody made quick money in buying Pantepec stocks before Winchell's Jan. 9 telecast and selling it the next morning when the buying avalanche pushed the price up temporarily.

Asked whether he planned to call Winchell as a witness, Fulbright said "not at present."

But he said it was possible the commentator would be called if it should develop there was any connection between him and those who profited from the record sale of 357,000 shares of Pantepec stock.

MCCORMICK testified there was unusual activity in the oil stock the week before Winchell's telecast. He said sales jumped to 170,000 shares in that week from a previous weekly average of about 20,000.

The exchange president has given the committee the names of traders and their brokers who had a part in the 170,000-share week. He also agreed to supply the names of those who took part in the rush of trading the following Monday.

Staff members said the committee also will get a transcript of Winchell's broadcast remarks about both Pantepec and Amurex Oil shares.

As for the other reported instances of tips and rumors which may have caused market fluctuations, Fulbright gave no details but said the staff is looking into them and the committee will decide later whether to ask for names of traders and brokers.

Move Approved to Extend Glasco Water District at Board Meeting

Saugerties, March 5—A petition to extend the Glasco Water District to include five large tracts of land on Barclay Heights, was approved at the town board meeting held Thursday night in the town building.

According to Peter M. Williams, supervisor of the town of Saugerties, a resolution was passed by the town board to extend the district to include more than 300 acres which includes all the property on the west side of Overbaugh street and part of Route 9W and extending over to the Esopus Creek.

Properties included are the Simmons' Dairy, Mary E. Schroeder, Philip A. Gatti, Jack Davis and the Roming property. The properties of the Simmons' Dairy, Philip A. Gatti and Jack Davis have already been marked for housing developments.

Residents for the added expense of extending water lines to the new areas.

Extending water lines from existing mains on Route 9W will be made at the expense of the various builders of the proposed housing and existing housing developments.

Also any individual owner within the extended area must foot the expense of tapping into the existing water main on the state road.

The assessed valuation of the present Glasco Water District is $418,300 and it is estimated by observers that a minimum estimate of only 100 new homes in the extended area would increase the assessed valuation to more than $600,000.

Probers Check 20 Killings in Stocks

AT SENATE PROBE OF STOCK MARKET—Edward T. McCormick, right, president of the American Stock Exchange, New York City, punctuates his testimony with a good laugh as he appears March 4 before the Senate Banking Committee's probe of the stock market. McCormick testified that in spite of record high prices "we have not reached a danger point in the stock market." At left is Morton M. Adler, of Rye, N. Y., who became an unscheduled witness when a volunteer was called for an explanation of a point which McCormick could not furnish. Adler, describing himself as "an amateur investor," gave a clear answer on a question about earnings of companies which make up Dow-Jones index. (AP Wirephoto)

Esopus Taxpayers Are Firm About Bridge

The Town of Esopus Taxpayers' Association will continue to push for reconstruction of the Eddyville bridge on Route 213, according to J. Grady, president.

Expressing dissatisfaction with a reply received from a State Department of Public Works official, Grady revealed in a letter to the editor of The Freeman today that his association will "follow up this matter carefully," and will solicit assistance of town and county officials to "expedite the removal and replacement of this perilous eyesore that the general public is forced to use extensively in the pursuit of their normal day's activities."

Calls for Boost In Postal Rates To Follow Raises

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Murray (D-Tenn.) called today for another boost in postage rates to follow pay raises which his committee has approved for post office employees.

"There should be a fair increase in rates," he declared, and it should apply to all classes of mail including letters now carried for three cents. He did not go into detail, but said he favored a four-cent charge for letters mailed from one city to another.

MURRAY is chairman of the House Post Office Committee, which yesterday voted an average of 7½ per cent pay raise costing 150 million dollars a year for 518,000 postal workers.

But in Honolulu, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles said "I am still concerned about hostile intentions of the Chinese Communists."

Dulles is en route home after a whirlwind trip through southeast Asia and Formosa. In Taipei Thursday he bluntly warned the Reds they could not expect immunity for their mainland bases if they attacked Formosa.

(A PEIPING broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted two Nationalist fliers as describing Formosa as "panic-stricken" over loss of off-shore islands and by the Reds' professed intent to "liberate" Formosa.)

The Tachen islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were evacuated by the Nationalists under the protection of the U. S. 7th fleet without a shot being fired in early February. The Nationalists later quit Nanchishan.

Losses Are Reported After Tips Winchell Denies Ties With Market

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today they are looking into about 20 instances in which big stock market killings may have been made through the spreading of "tips and rumors."

This word came from Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Banking Committee following testimony yesterday that tips given by Walter Winchell on his television show have caused sharp market fluctuations.

THE WITNESS, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than two million dollars in less than an hour and a half.

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago. Again, he said, the tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange had not acted quickly to hold the price down.

WINCHELL, a newspaper columnist and radio and TV commentator, said in New York no one has challenged the accuracy of his report on the company, and that some of the country's more responsible newspapers have confirmed it.

Winchell said he himself has never had any direct or indirect interest in stocks and added in a statement: "A sound rule is investigate before you invest. Don't buy anything you aren't prepared to hold for 20 years. That's why I buy U. S. government bonds exclusively."

FULBRIGHT told reporters the committee hopes to learn whether anybody made quick money in buying Pantepec stocks before Winchell's Jan. 9 telecast and selling it the next morning when the buying avalanche pushed the price up temporarily. Asked whether he planned to call Winchell as a witness, Fulbright said "not at present."

But he said it was possible the commentator would be called if it should develop there was any connection between him and those who profited from the record sale of 357,000 shares of Pantepec stock.

MCCORMICK testified there was unusual activity in the oil stock the week before Winchell's telecast. He said sales jumped to 170,000 shares in that week from a previous weekly average of about 20,000.

The exchange president has given the committee the names of traders and their brokers who had a part in the 170,000-share week. He also agreed to supply the names of those who took part in the rush of trading the following Monday.

Staff members said the committee also will get a transcript of Winchell's broadcast remarks about both Pantepec and Amurex Oil shares.

As for the other reported instances of tips and rumors which may have caused market fluctuations, Fulbright gave no details but said the staff is looking into them and the committee will decide later whether to ask for names of traders and brokers.

Move Approved to Extend Glasco Water District at Board Meeting

Saugerties, March 5.—A petition to extend the Glasco Water District to include five large tracts of land on Barclay Heights, was approved at the town board meeting held Thursday night in the town building.

According to Peter M. Williams, supervisor of the town of Saugerties, a resolution was passed by the town board to extend the district to include more than 300 acres which includes all the property on the west side of Overbaugh street and part of Route 9W and extending over to the Esopus Creek.

Properties included are the Simmons' Dairy, Mary E. Schroeder, Philip A. Gatti, Jack Davis and the Roming property.

The properties of the Simmons' Dairy, Philip A. Gatti and Jack Davis have already been marked for housing developments.

A date for a public hearing was set for Friday, March 18, at 2:30 p. m. in the town hall.

Supervisor Williams observed that the proposed building program in that area may eventually increase the assessed valuation of the water district by 50 per cent and thereby sharply decrease the water tax rate to residents in the water district.

Emphasized by Supervisor Williams is the fact that extension of the water district will not obligate water district residents for the added expense of extending water lines to the new areas.

Extending water lines from existing mains on Route 9W will be made at the expense of the various builders of the proposed housing and existing housing developments.

Also any individual owner within the extended area must foot the expense of taping into the existing water main on the state road.

The assessed valuation of the present Glasco Water District is $418,300 and it is estimated by observers that a minimum estimate of only 100 new homes in the extended area would increase the assessed valuation to more than $600,000.

It happens, sometimes, that winter returns for a few short hours—or days—after this fellow has put in his appearance. And then we all feel sorry for him, with a kind of fear in our sorrow lest he get discouraged with the chill and the snow and go back south again. It would, indeed, be a bad omen if he left us—once he is here. Surely no emissary ever got a more hearty welcome than this one with the red, red breast. There is never any reserve or hesitant half-heartedness in the hospitality we hold out to him. Too bad, isn't it? that we humans have no way of telling this feathered emissary how much he means to us!

Your Life And Mine

SPRING'S EMISSARY

I am sure there must be robins around although, up until the writing of these lines, I haven't chanced to see or hear one. That, however, is nothing strange. Usually, I never seem to be able to get my eye on a robin until they have become "old stuff" for most folks. The robin is more than a bird. He is an ambassador of good will sent to us from the kindly Court of the Seasons. He is a feathered emissary sent on ahead to tell us that something wonderful is on its way. He is a messenger charged with the responsibility of reminding us that winter is not a permanent state of affairs—that warmth and beauty are headed in our direction and will be arriving before too long.

I am sure it would surprise the robin if he knew how much responsibility rests upon his feathered shoulders and how much he means to us. He has no idea how significant a creature he is in the great scheme of things. He is completely unconscious of the tremendous cargo of cheer which he carries when he spreads his wings and takes to the air to head northward. He is, of course, thinking only of coming back to get another nest ready. But when he comes back and starts looking around for the choicest spot for his nest, he is yet only a dream in a bird's head; then we begin to make plans in earnest for all of those wonderful possibilities and pursuits which the springtime ushers in.

Sometimes we hear this red-breasted emissary before we see him, and vice versa. But no matter! For he delivers his message whether he "says" anything or not. Just a glimpse of him is enough to start a new hope coursing through our veins and give birth to a new enthusiasm. His presence is all we need to kindle our assurances and touch a spark to the tinder of our imagination. Not that we do not prize his song. We love it—as well as everything about him. But the chief value of his song, at first, is to tell us that he is back with us again. And we know that when he has arrived, something else that we prize beyond words is traveling our way too.

It happens, sometimes, that winter returns for a few short hours—or days—after this fellow has put in his appearance. And then we all feel sorry for him, with a kind of fear in our sorrow lest he get discouraged with the chill and the snow and go back south again. It would, indeed, be a bad omen if he left us—once he is here. Surely no emissary ever got a more hearty welcome than this one with the red, red breast. Stock Push Up To New Peak Levels This Week

New York, March 5 (AP)—Stocks resumed their bull market drive ahead this week after a brief selloff and pushed up to new peak levels.

There were no fireworks in trading at any time, but the average gain was the greatest in four months.

The market's rise last week was interrupted by selling that followed the Bank of England's action in sharply boosting its interest rate on loans. That was a blow aimed at British inflation and its implications weren't overlooked in this country.

THIS WEEK the stock market started a recovery with the opening gong Monday and kept right on pushing ahead—sometimes mildly and sometimes strongly, but always forward. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $3.70 on the week, the widest gain since the second week of last November. The average closed at $162.60, highest level in its history. Last week the average lost $1.

Leadership of the rise was excellent and strongly placed in major divisions like steels, railroads, motors and oils.

Everyone in Wall Street was quite well aware that Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) was conducting a study of the stock market through the Senate Banking Committee. The two principal witnesses were the presidents of the New York and American Stock Exchanges.

IF THE MARKET itself was influenced by the hearings, there was no visible indication to which brokers could or would point. News of the market's strength and the Fulbright study ran parallel.

General business news was considered highly favorable for a rise in the stock market. The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported order backlogs high. The steel industry cited a rush of business. Leaders in the automobile industry forecast new records of production and sales this year.

THERE WAS one other thing the market had back of it. In the past, March has found the market rising like sap in an early spring. And the market in March's first week acted as though it didn't expect to encounter the chill of a late winter sales wind.

On Monday the market stepped ahead smartly with steels strong. Volume wasn't too large, but it was larger than on the previous Friday when prices on average declined.

Tuesday's market not only made a little better progress than the previous day but volume also expanded. Steels and railroads were strong points.

THE MARKET hit its best stride Wednesday when it ran up its largest volume and best price increases of the week. Again the steels and railroads were out in front of the advance.

Profit-taking appeared Thursday—the day the Fulbright study opened in Washington—but the market absorbed the selling and closed slightly higher.

Friday's market began like a typical preweekend affair and presented a mixture of small gains and losses of the day. In the latter part of the session, however, buyer confidence returned and the market closed higher. Volume, however, was meager.

THE FIVE MOST active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were Webb & Knapp up $\frac{3}{4}$ at 3 on 894,300 shares; General Stores unchanged at 1 $\frac{1}{2}$; Nonferrous Metal Products up $\frac{1}{16}$ at $\frac{3}{4}$; Brazilian Traction up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$, and Fargo Oils up $\frac{7}{16}$ at 2 $\frac{3}{4}$.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Graham Paige up $\frac{3}{4}$ at 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ on 243,500 shares; Pennsylvania Railroad up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 28 $\frac{1}{2}$; General Motors up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 98; Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up $\frac{3}{4}$ at 16 $\frac{1}{2}$; and Textron up $\frac{3}{4}$ at 16 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Man Dragged Under Car Dies of Injuries

New York, March 5 (AP)—William Kenneth Myers, 42, dragged for 32 blocks under a car on Thursday evening, died last night of a fractured skull, fractured leg and multiple cuts and bruises.

Myers, a Brooklyn window washer, apparently crawled on rolled under the parked car belonging to Frank Casavillo, 33, also of Brooklyn.

When Casavillo drove away with his car he said the vehicle handled "as if I had two flat tires." He said an initial check failed to show anything, but later he heard a cab driver shout: "There is an arm and leg sticking out from under your car."

Police said Myers, before he died, told them he had several drinks and could not remember how he got under the auto.

Federal Intervention Heads Off Rail Strike

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Federal intervention apparently has headed off a threatened strike of 20,000 CIO maintenance men against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill of the National (Railway) Mediation Board announced last night that officials of the CIO Transport Workers Union had informed him by phone they were calling off the walkout, scheduled for midnight Sunday.

O'Neill said the union had accepted a mediation board offer to take a hand in working out a settlement of the dispute, which grows out of the economy layoff of 12,000 workers. Union officials were not available for comment on O'Neill's announcement. The railroad previously had accepted the mediation offer.

14,499 Employees Are Cut From U. S. Payrolls

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Civilian employees of federal executive agencies totaled 2,353,573 in January, a decrease of 14,499 from the previous month. A Senate-House expenditures committee, headed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), said the decrease was accounted for largely by the dropping of temporary employees of the census bureau.

The report said employment in civilian agencies was 1,170,191, off 17,975 from December, while civilian employment in military agencies in January totaled 1,183,382, an increase of 3,476 from the previous month.

14,499 Employees Are Cut From U. S. Payrolls

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Civilian employees of federal executive agencies totaled 2,353,573 in January, a decrease of 14,499 from the previous month. A Senate-House expenditures committee, headed by Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.), said the decrease was accounted for largely by the dropping of temporary employees of the census bureau.

The report said employment in civilian agencies was 1,170,191, off 17,975 from December, while civilian employment in military agencies in January totaled 1,183,382, an increase of 3,476 from the previous month.

MORE PEOPLE BOUGHT FORD CARS IN 1954 than any other make!

*Ford passenger-car sales to customers outnumbered those of any other make by thousands

AND IT'S EASY TO SEE WHY!

Ford is the leader in ride

Ford was first in its field to introduce Ball-Joint Front Suspension—the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. And for '55, it's even better. Springs are set at an angle to smooth out even the tiniest bumps. It's the new Ford Angle-Poised Ride.

FORD IS THE LEADER IN ALL THE FEATURES THAT MAKE YOUR CAR WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT • WORTH MORE WHEN YOU SELL IT

Ford is the leader in styling

Motorists know that Ford has set the style trend in the industry for years. And now, with styling inspired by the fabulous Thunderbird, Ford is farther out front than ever!

Ford is the leader in V-8 power

Ford was first in its field (by 23 years) to provide the advantages of V-8 power. Since that time, Ford has built over 14,000,000 V-8 engines—more than all other makers combined! For 1955, Ford offers two new and mighty V-8's, as well as a most modern Six—all with the split-second response of Trigger-Torque power!

RED CROSS INVESTMENT

All over the world, the Red Cross stands as the symbol of helpfulness in time of trouble. In this country, people have a chance once a year to show by their dollars that they are grateful for the work of this remarkable agency. That time is now at hand.

Hardly an American lives who does not know the great and continuing humanitarian record of the Red Cross in disaster relief all around the globe. Since 1953 it has responded to 19 international appeals, and, of course, many similar calls at home. What is perhaps less fully appreciated is the present extent of Red Cross services to the American armed forces at home and abroad. Forty per cent of its estimated 1955-56 budget of $85 million, which it hopes to raise in this March campaign, will go for such services.

Never in our history has the Red Cross served longer overseas than in the period during and since World War II. Workers can be found at snowbound bases in Alaska, Greenland and Newfoundland, in the dusty desert of North Africa, in half a dozen European lands, and in the Philippines, Korea and Japan.

President Eisenhower once said an army doing peacetime duty in a foreign country needs the Red Cross more than does a shooting army. Personal problems, other than his physical safety, loom larger to an inactive soldier than a man in combat.

Red Cross people provide service personnel with financial aid, counsel them on a wide range of matters, help them communicate with their families, and perform many tasks in military hospitals. Some 100 Red Cross girls take lively recreational programs into remote spots occupied by our soldiers.

Altogether the Red Cross has 2220 workers placed in 270 military installations and 140 hospitals here and abroad.

Most of us are pretty familiar with the immense Blood Program, which the Red Cross expects will cost more than $14 million in the year ahead. This is big business—business whose objective is the saving of thousands of lives. And the agency also has a number of other programs of unmistakable value.

The Red Cross naturally deals with emergencies of many sorts as part of its "routine." But there is one emergency it does not plan for financially: war. If trouble should break out in the Formosa area, all its present estimates would be outmoded. Understandably, the agency would welcome a little cushion of money to hedge against that danger.

The Red Cross does not need to be sold to the American people. It should be enough to note that this is the moment for them to make another investment in the helpfulness it symbolizes.

AID FOR JAPAN

The United States is making a special effort to improve the trade position of Japan in the world. We will grant the Japanese special concessions and we will seek other concessions for them from nations which do business with us.

The Communists in Russia and in China have been dangling attractive bait in the form of trade before the Japanese. In large part that bait has been resisted so far. But unless we can help Japan toward a healthy economy—and that depends on trade—we cannot expect her to resist the Red blandishments forever.

This policy of aid to Japan is wise and farsighted. It shows that we are using one of the best weapons we have in the cold war—the ability to assist nations which need to assist themselves. The state-controlled economy that exists in Communist controlled countries is at a certain disadvantage in the field of world trade. We would be foolhardy if we did not put the advantage that rests with us to work for us.

Helping Japan to improve its trade will help to assure that extreme elements are kept from power in that country. It will

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ARE YOU A STATESMAN?

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but hard the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years. Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it. Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc., etc., on the installment plan. If you don't have money, buy anyhow. Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that Democracy?

So with such a start, I asked Sam, "Is business good?"

"Why should it not be good," Sam asked, always starting an argument. "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, business will be good. As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy. They got the money."

"Sam, you've become a statesman," I said. "Who isn't?" Sam asked. "Nowadays everybody is a statesman. Also he knows about India and Pakistan, Iran and Iraq, Matsu and Quemoy; also who got bumped off in Moscow. But nobody tells him why. Everybody knows so much these days, that there ain't no use telling him anything."

"So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don't worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'"

"So I tell the customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano. The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news."

"Tell me, Sam," I asked, "does the customer ever ask you what makes an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied. "Would a guy be hired by C.B.S. and N.B.C. and the State Department and General Motors, if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also it is good business to spoil the customer's appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be Secretary of State."

"So I say if you buy a television set from me, you can see the great commentator Hotsklotz every night from Monday to Friday, same time, same station, just before you want to go to sleep. His voice is like a phono-baritone. So clear, so beautiful, so wonderful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate. If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon. Sign here and the credit company will do the rest."

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes Black Angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington."

"Let the customer be a statesman, too. Why not? What harm can it do? So when she talks about Pakistan, it sounds like she is talking about Minnesota. Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?"

"As long as the customer buys, we all live. Is it worse than in the Depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you."

"I'll be seeing you, Sam," I said to close the conversation.

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price, but don't tell nobody. I'll give you the relative's price."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said as I plowed into a stuffed dummy.

That Body of Yours

EXPECTED CHANGES AS WE GROW OLDER

There comes a time for every one of us when we realize we "are not as young as we used to be," a knowledge that we can no longer do the amount of physical and mental work in one day of which we were formerly capable. This is an entirely natural thing to happen and we must accept it in our stride and adjust ourselves to it. As the saying goes, "Is anyone getting younger?"

There is, generally speaking, a period of life thought of as a development period, lasting until somewhere between 18 and 20; a period of maximum ability, both physical and mental, lasting from 20 until nearly 30 and, in some varying degree, particularly in mental capacities, until about 40; and a period of well-marked decline.

Certain capacities vary according to sex. Women can tolerate fatigue and disease better than men; men have greater ability to carry out tasks calling for maximum physical endeavor. Also, the aging process is not the same for all parts of the body or for all organs. A special defect in vision occurs commonly in the early forties, so that the need to wear bifocals is sometimes said to be one of the early signs of getting old.

The loss of teeth may produce a serious problem in that ill-fitting dentures result in a limited diet which in turn may produce a deficiency disease, affecting the personality. The hair commonly loses its color and becomes thinner. The skin develops wrinkles and folds due partly to loss of tone of the muscles. "In a culture which glorifies the physical attributes of youth, the aging person may have difficulty in accepting loss of these qualities."

Loss of memory for recent events is common as one grows older but there is often excellent memory for the remote past. Standard intelligence tests would seem to indicate that intellectual capacity is lower but this has largely to do with the slower speed of reactions than to actual loss of ability to deal with problems.

With the aging process there is a tendency to show less control over the emotions but this may be because of the easy fatigability and varies considerably in individuals. Also, many persons become more rigid, show no interest in new things and will not tolerate any opposition. On the other hand, many persons become more tolerant and understanding and their emotional reactions to life improve.

Some older people try to ignore the aging process. Others become intolerant of youth and claim the advantages of old age. Others give in completely, feeling there is no use trying any more. The wise older will accept the limitations of age and adjust himself to the abilities he still has.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — President Eisenhower's reversal of his previous reversal of a Civil Aeronautics Board decision in the west coast-Hawaii commercial airline case focuses new attention on political pressures being brought to bear on CAB.

As finally approved by the President, Northwest Airlines and Pan American Airways will operate parallel routes from Seattle-Portland to Honolulu for three years. Pan American and United will operate from Los Angeles-San Francisco to Honolulu.

Last December, by a unanimous five-to-nothing vote, CAB recommended that Northwest be granted a permanent certificate to operate Portland-Seattle to Honolulu, exclusively.

On Feb. 2, in an unprecedented action, the White House made public a letter from President Eisenhower to Acting CAB Chairman Chan Gurney. It rejected the board's recommendation on this and other aspects of the larger, trans-Pacific airline route application cases.

The action was unprecedented because it was the first time since CAB was set up in 1938 that one of its five-to-nothing recommendations had been overruled by any President. For the White House to make public this controversy was unheard of.

USUAL PROCEDURE IS FOR the President to sign draft orders prepared by CAB, then issue supplementary orders. Or, if the President does not like the draft orders, they are quietly sent back for revision before being made public by CAB itself.

In this case, the White House staff feared there would be a leak. So they gave out all the details themselves.

The resulting explosion in aviation circles was louder than a jet breaking the sound barrier. What this looked like was that Northwest Airlines, which had pioneered the Seattle-Portland to Honolulu route, was being frozen out to give Pan Am preference as the government's "chosen instrument," which it long desired to be.

Donald W. Nyrop, president of Northwest, flew into Washington and started dropping bombs. Having been both Civil Aeronautics administrator and chairman of CAB, he knew all the vulnerable targets. He began by calling congressmen, asking them to call the White House and CAB to find out what went on.

SEN. WARREN MAGNUSON (D. Wash.) proposed an investigation of CAB and a new law to take away the President's right to allocate airline routes and territories.

Republican CAB Acting Chairman Gurney and Chief Counsel Emory T. Nunneley, Jr., were called to the White House. Present were Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, former Undersecretary Robert B. Murray, Jr., and Gov. Sherman Adams.

The presence of Weeks and Murray was considered significant. CAB is supposed to operate as an independent, quasi-judicial body, free from Commerce Department interference. But over the past two years there have been increasing complaints in Congress that officials were trying to influence CAB influence.

In the last Congress, Rep. Carl Hinshaw (R-Calif.), one of the pioneers in civil aviation matters, introduced bills to prevent CAB and CAA domination by the Commerce Department.

ANYWAY, CHAIRMAN GURNEY WAS ABLE to present this White House Conference his board's reasons for keeping Northwest in business on the Honolulu route. Much of this data had not been presented to the President before by his staff and advisers. On the basis of this information, President Eisenhower decided to reverse his reversal of the original CAB five-to-nothing recommendation — at least in part. Northwest was put back in the picture, though not on a permanent and exclusive basis, as CAB recommended. Pan Am was kept in, too.

CAB lawyers went to work drafting new orders to carry out the President's changed decision. They were all ready for issuance Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 15. But they were held up till the next noon.

Right up to the very last minute, there was heavy pressure applied to get the President to go back to his original reversal of the CAB recommendations. It was reported that at one point Secretary Weeks had threatened to resign if this was not done. The President stuck to his original second reversal.

When East bid four hearts in today's hand it was clear that he considered his suit to be quite powerful. A sensible player doesn't bid for ten tricks in an unsupported suit without considerable length and strength in that suit.

For this reason, West should have regarded a heart opening lead as the safest possible opening. The lead of the king of diamonds from a suit headed by K-Q-J may have looked equally safe, but it turned out to be disastrous.

South won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps, and led a low diamond. West had to win with the jack and East showed out, thus revealing the complete diamond situation.

Later on, South could lead the nine of diamonds through West towards dummy's trumps. West had to cover with the queen of diamonds, and dummy could ruff and thus establish the eight of diamonds. If West failed to cover with the queen of diamonds, dummy could discard instead of ruffing.

The point was, of course, that

Glasco Inn Closes

Saugerties, March 4—The Lincoln Inn, a landmark in Glasco, has closed its doors as a public restaurant and grill. It was learned today. According to Mr. and Mrs. D. Mauro, who have served the public for 34 years, the building will be remodeled for apartment purposes. They started the business in 1921.

declarer needed to ruff only one diamond in the dummy. This was important, since after two rounds of trumps dummy had only three trumps to take care of declarer's two losing hearts and two losing diamonds. South gave up only one spade and one diamond, thus making his doubled contract.

There would have been a very different story to tell if West had led a heart to begin with. South would have had no favorable diamond situation to help him. He would have three trumps in dummy to ruff two hearts and one diamond.

Hence he would eventually lose two diamond tricks in addition to the inevitable spade loser. Thus South would be down one trick instead of making his contract.

RED CROSS INVESTMENT

All over the world, the Red Cross stands as the symbol of helpfulness in time of trouble. In this country, people have a chance once a year to show by their dollars that they are grateful for the work of this remarkable agency. That time is now at hand.

Hardly an American lives who does not know the great and continuing humanitarian record of the Red Cross in disaster relief all around the globe. Since 1953 it has responded to 19 international appeals, and, of course, many similar calls at home.

What is perhaps less fully appreciated is the present extent of Red Cross services to the American armed forces at home and abroad. Forty per cent of its estimated 1955-56 budget of $85 million, which it hopes to raise in this March campaign, will go for such services.

Never in our history has the Red Cross served longer overseas than in the period during and since World War II. Workers can be found at snowbound bases in Alaska, Greenland and Newfoundland, in the dusty desert of North Africa, in half a dozen European lands, and in the Philippines, Korea and Japan.

President Eisenhower once said an army doing peacetime duty in a foreign country needs the Red Cross more than does a shooting army. Personal problems, other than his physical safety, loom larger to an inactive soldier than a man in combat.

Red Cross people provide service personnel with financial aid, counsel them on a wide range of matters, help them communicate with their families, and perform many tasks in military hospitals. Some 100 Red Cross girls take lively recreational programs into remote spots occupied by our soldiers.

Altogether the Red Cross has 2220 workers placed in 270 military installations and 140 hospitals here and abroad.

Most of us are pretty familiar with the immense Blood Program, which the Red Cross expects will cost more than $14 million in the year ahead. This is big business—business whose objective is the saving of thousands of lives. And the agency also has a number of other programs of unmistakable value.

The Red Cross naturally deals with emergencies of many sorts as part of its "routine." But there is one emergency it does not plan for financially: war. If trouble should break out in the Formosa area, all its present estimates would be outmoded. Understandably, the agency would welcome a little cushion of money to hedge against that danger.

The Red Cross does not need to be sold to the American people. It should be enough to note that this is the moment for them to make another investment in the helpfulness it symbolizes.

AID FOR JAPAN

The United States is making a special effort to improve the trade position of Japan in the world. We will grant the Japanese special concessions and we will seek other concessions for them from nations which do business with us.

The Communists in Russia and in China have been dangling attractive bait in the form of trade before the Japanese. In large part that bait has been resisted so far. But unless we can help Japan toward a healthy economy—and that depends on trade—we cannot expect her to resist the Red-blisthments forever.

This policy of aid to Japan is wise and farsighted. It shows that we are using one of the best weapons we have in the cold war—the ability to assist nations which need to assist themselves. The state-controlled economy that exists in Communist controlled countries is at a certain disadvantage in the field of world trade. We would be foolhardy if we did not put the advantage that rests with us to work for us.

Helping Japan to improve its trade will help to assure that extreme elements are kept from power in that country. It will

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ARE YOU A STATESMAN?

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but had the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years. Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it. Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc., on the installment plan. If you don't have money, buy anyhow. Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that Democracy?

"So with such a start, I asked Sam, 'Is business good?'"

"Why should it not be good," Sam asked, always starting an argument. "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, business will be good. As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy. They got the money."

"Sam, you've become a statesman," I said.

"Who isn't?" Sam asked. "Nowadays everybody is a statesman. Also he knows about India and Pakistan, Iran and Iraq, Matsu and Quemoy; also who got bumped off in Moscow. But nobody tells him why. Everybody knows so much these days that there ain't no use telling him anything."

"So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don't worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'"

"So I tell the customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano. The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news."

"Tell me, Sam," I asked, "does the customer ever ask you what makes an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied. "Would a guy be hired by C.B.S. and N.B.C. and the State Department and General Motors, if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also is it good business to spoil the customer's appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsiklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be Secretary of State."

"So I say if you buy a television set from me, you can see the great commentator Hotsiklotz every night from Monday to Friday, same time, same station, just before you want to go to sleep. His voice is like a pheno-barbital. So clear, so beautiful, so wonderful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate. If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsiklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon. Sign here and the credit company will do the rest."

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes Black Angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington."

"Let the customer be a statesman, too. Why not? What harm can it do? So she talks about Pakistan. It sounds like he is talking about Minnesota. Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?"

"As long as the customers buy, we all live. Is it worse than in the Depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said to close the conversation.

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price, but don't tell nobody. I'll give you the relative's price."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said as I plowed into a stuffed derry.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EXPECTED CHANGES AS WE GROW OLDER

There comes a time for every one of us when we realize we "are not as young as we used to be," a knowledge that we can no longer do the amount of physical and mental work in one day of which we were formerly capable. This is an entirely natural thing to happen and we must accept it in our stride and adjust ourselves to it. As the saying goes, "Is anyone getting younger?"

There is, generally speaking, a period of life thought of as a development period, lasting until somewhere between 18 and 20; a period of maximum ability, both physical and mental, lasting from 20 until nearly 30 and, in some varying degree, particularly in mental capacities, until about 40; and a period of well-marked decline.

Certain capacities vary according to sex. Women can tolerate fatigue and disease better than men; men have greater ability to carry out tasks calling for maximum physical endeavor. Also, the aging process is not the same for all parts of the body or for all organs. A special defect in vision occurs commonly in the early forties, so that the near to wear bifocals is sometimes said to be one of the early signs of getting old.

The loss of teeth may produce a serious problem in that ill-fitting dentures result in a limited diet which in turn may produce a deficiency disease, affecting the personality. The hair commonly loses its color and becomes thinner. The skin develops wrinkles and folds due partly to loss of tone of the muscles. "In a culture which glorifies the physical attributes of youth, the aging person may have difficulty in accepting loss of these qualities."

Loss of memory for recent events is common as one grows older but there is often excellent memory for the remote past. Standard intelligence tests would seem to indicate that intellectual capacity is lower, but this has largely to do with the slower speed of reactions than to actual loss of ability to deal with problems.

With the aging process there is a tendency to show less control over the emotions but this may be because of the easy fatigability and varies considerably in individuals. Also, many persons become rigid, show no interest in new things and will not tolerate any opposition. On the other hand, many persons become more tolerant and understanding and their emotional reactions to life improve.

Some older people try to ignore the aging process. Others become intolerant of youth and claim the advantages of old age. Others give in completely, feeling there is no use trying any more. The wise olderster will accept the limitations of age and adjust himself to the abilities he still has. Acknowledgments to Dr. Karl M. Bowman in "Geriatrics."

The Brainwashed

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — President Eisenhower's reversal of his previous reversal of a Civil Aeronautics Board decision in the west coast-Hawaii commercial airline case focuses new attention on political pressures being brought to bear on CAB.

As finally approved by the President, Northwest Airlines and Pan American Airways will operate parallel routes from Seattle-Portland to Honolulu for three years. Pan American and United will operate from Los Angeles-San Francisco to Honolulu.

Last December, by a unanimous five-to-nothing vote, CAB recommended that Northwest be granted a permanent certificate to operate Portland-Seattle to Honolulu, exclusively.

On Feb. 2, in an unprecedented action, the White House made public a letter from President Eisenhower to Acting CAB Chairman Chan Gurney. It rejected the board's recommendation on this and other aspects of the larger, trans-Pacific airline route application cases.

The action was unprecedented because it was the first time since CAB was set up in 1938 that one of its five-to-nothing recommendations had been overruled by a President. For the White House to make public this controversy was unheard of.

USUAL PROCEDURE IS FOR the President to sign draft orders prepared by CAB, then issue supplementary orders. Or, if the President does not like the draft orders, they are quietly sent back for revision before being made public by CAB itself.

In this case, the White House staff feared there would be a leak. So they gave out all the details themselves.

The resulting explosion in aviation circles was louder than a jet breaking the sound barrier. What this looked like was that Northwest Airlines, which had pioneered the Seattle-Portland to Honolulu route, was being frozen out to give Pan Am preference as the government's "chosen instrument," which it long desired to be.

Donald W. Nyrop, president of Northwest, flew into Washington and started dropping bombs. Having been both Civil Aeronautics administrator and chairman of CAB, he knew all the vulnerable targets. He began by calling congressmen, asking them to call the White House and CAB to find out what went on.

SEN. WARREN MAGNUSON (D. Wash.) proposed an investigation of CAB and a new law to take away the President's right to allocate airline routes and territories.

Republican CAB Acting Chairman Gurney and Chief Counsel Emory T. Nunneley, Jr., were called to the White House. Present were Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, former Undersecretary Robert B. Murray, Jr., and Gov. Sherman Adams.

The presence of Weeks and Murray were considered significant. CAB is supposed to operate as an independent, quasi-judicial body, free from Commerce Department interference. But over the past two years there have been increasing complaints in Congress that officials were trying to influence CAB influence.

In the last Congress, Rep. Carl Hinchey (R-Calif.), one of the pioneers in civil aviation matters, introduced bills to prevent CAB and CAA domination by the Commerce Department.

ANYWAY, CHAIRMAN GURNEY WAS ABLE to present this White House Conference his board's reasons for keeping Northwest in business on the Honolulu route. Much of this data had not been presented to the President before by his staff and advisers.

On the basis of this information, President Eisenhower decided to reverse his reversal of the original CAB five-to-nothing recommendation — at least in part. Northwest was put back in the picture, though not on a permanent and exclusive basis, as CAB recommended. Pan Am was kept in, too.

CAB lawyers went to work drafting new orders to carry out the President's changed decision. They were all ready for issuance Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 15. But they were held up till the next noon.

Right up to the very last minute, there was heavy pressure applied to get the President to go back to his original reversal of the CAB recommendations. It was reported that at one point Secretary Weeks had threatened to resign if this was not done. This the secretary denies. But the President stuck to his original second reversal.

declarer needed to ruff only one diamond in the dummy. This was important, since after two rounds of trumps dummy had only three trumps to take care of declarer's two losing hearts and two losing diamonds. South gave up only one spade and one diamond, thus making his doubled contract.

There would have been a very different story to tell if West had led a heart to begin with. South would have had no favorable diamond situation to help him. He would have three trumps in dummy to ruff two hearts and one diamond.

Hence he would eventually lose two diamond tricks in addition to the inevitable spade loser. Thus South would be down one trick instead of making his contract.

Eleanor's Talk Is Switched to Church

Armonk, March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, barred from speaking at a school auditorium here when a Republican noted it was technically against the law, addressed the North Castle Democratic Club last night in a church.

The North Castle Board of Education had granted the club a routine permit to hold its meeting in the school auditorium.

But a Republican, Paul Lehr, objected. The board, after checking, withdrew its permission.

Vincent Cunningham, board chairman, told Mrs. Roosevelt in a letter that the law requires a special district meeting to authorize use of the schools for political meetings.

In the past, Cunningham said, the technically had been overlooked and both Republican and Democratic Party meetings were held in school buildings.

He said he hoped a district meeting would be called soon to authorize such meetings in the future.

Armonk, located in northern Westchester county, is a heavily Republican area.

ABOUT 200 persons gathered at the Armonk Methodist Church to hear Mrs. Roosevelt. Those who could not be accommodated in the church proper saw and heard Mrs. Roosevelt on a closed circuit television system piped into a basement room.

Commenting on the school auditorium law, she said she understood the law and "in no way" took it personally.

Speaking on "the importance of political activity in your own town," Mrs. Roosevelt urged less political apathy by citizens.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Color In Your Life
We all boast of red-blooded Americans. But why do we say "Red?" All blood is red, even that of blue-blooded aristocrats.

Color affects us all strongly, both emotionally and physically. Red makes us feel strong and our muscles react quickly to it. Blue relaxes and calms us. Advertisers use color to affect our feelings toward their products.

We can use it in our daily lives to make ourselves healthier and happier. March is a good month to experiment. The outside world is drab and dreary. March is mud.

In this depressing atmosphere a cold in the nose can make anyone wish he were dead. But simply to blame the mournful dress of Nature will not solve the problem. Let's see what color can do to make our surroundings more stimulating.

A manufacturer redecorated his cafeteria in what he thought was a lovely feminine blue to please his women employees. Soon they complained of feeling cold and wore their coats to lunch. A color engineer advised slipcovering the chairs in orange and the complaints ended. The red side of the color spectrum is warm, and the blue-green opposites are cool. Dark colored objects seem heavier than light colored ones. Yellow can feel like sunlight, but the wrong shade can make you sick at your stomach.

It isn't necessary to buy a new wardrobe or redecorate the house from top or bottom. If you give thought to planning clothes, rooms, even meals, you will find you can use color for health and happiness without extra expense. You can wear a bright scarf with an old dress. A small piece of material in a warm color will cover a sofa pillow. You can find stimulating pictures for your walls in magazines. You can cut branches of flowering trees and bring them to bloom in water. You can have spring in your house.

When the season changes, you can emphasize cool and restful colors that will give your family a more comfortable summer.

Basement and Cellar

The difference between basement and cellar is that a cellar has more than half its height below grade, a basement less than half.

Add Width to Windows

Brightly painted shutters on a house not only bring life and beauty to it, but give the illusion of width to windows that seem too narrow.

Keeps Tools Bright

If tools stored in the tool chest begin to rust, put a small bag or container of calcium chloride in with them. This will absorb any moisture that may be about.

Building HintsPleasing Finish

A beautiful "rubbed finish" effect may be obtained by using a flat finish varnish. This produces a soft, dull surface that can scarcely be distinguished from a hand-rubbed finish.

Paint Coverage

As a guide in ordering paint, it can be figured that a gallon will cover approximately 500 square feet and one quart is good for about 125 square feet.

Paint Room for $10

Enough top-grade paint to cover the walls and enough enamel for the woodwork of an average room can be bought for less than $10.

Dry Surface Essential

Excess moisture in wood may cause paint to blister. Always be sure that a surface to be painted is thoroughly dry before work is begun.

Rubber Tiled Stairs

When you put down a rubber tile floor in your kitchen, buy a few extra tiles and install them on the basement stairs. It will make traffic to and from the basement quieter and safer.

Cut Down Home Toil in Summer

Your summer design for living should be the simple approach. Tried and tested tricks for cutting down housekeeping should appeal to any housewife. Here are some pointers well worth considering:

Protect your living room curtains by backing them with clear plastic shower curtains. The shower curtains may be attached easily with shower bath hooks to screen draperies from dust and sudden rainstorms.

Tack plastic trim over upholstered seats of your dining room chairs. You can keep the plastic covers fresh with soap and water during the hot months and upholstery should be clean and bright when you remove the covers in the fall.

Make cool-looking white Turkish towel slip covers to protect your fine upholstery. They're not only handsome but can go right into the washing machine and need no ironing.

If you want cool, temporary slipcovers on a broiling day, just tuck fresh white sheets over chairs and sofa.

If you want to store draperies from effects of the elements and a dusty house, consider using sheets at the windows during the summer months. These are ideal for certain type windows, can be adjusted temporarily to windows are used as sheets again when removed.

Paint Remover Warning

Use care when using a liquid paint remover to take off several layers of paint. If the remover is left on too long, the softened paint will seep down into the wood pores and then getting it out is tough going.

Cleaner Jigsawing

In jigsawing intricate designs in plywood cleaner cuts can be made if the plywood surfaces are first coated with clear shellac and then allowed to dry.

Trim Matches Ceiling

On the West Coast a trend is noted toward the painting of a room's woodwork in the same color as the ceiling.

Asparagus From Seed

Asparagus beds started from seed will begin producing well almost as soon as a bed started from roots. A bed in rich, deep soil will last a lifetime.

Rubbing Alcohol Lethal to Bugs

Hidden beneath each of the woolly white tufts found on houseplants is a soft-bodied sucking insect that can bring ruin to almost any plant. These are called mealy bugs and the white froth is produced by them to serve as a protection against their enemies.

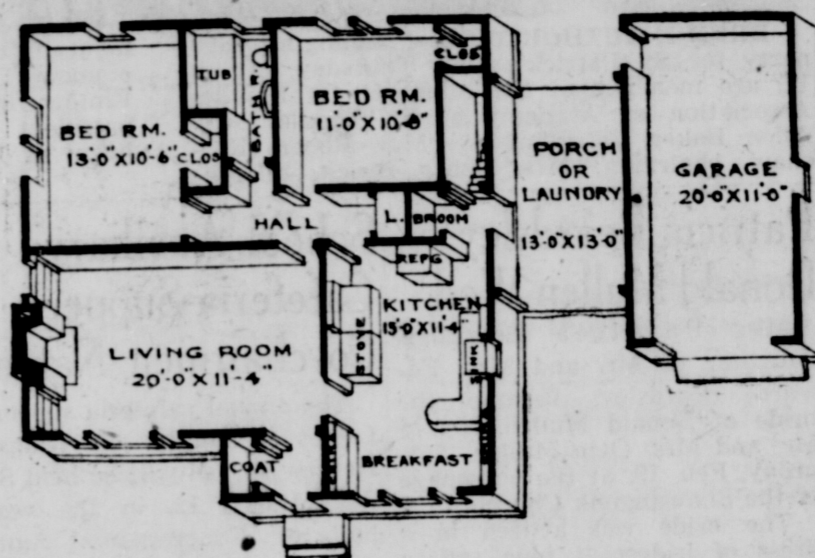

Ordinary sprays have little effect on them as they cannot be applied with sufficient force to reach the actual insect. There is one sure and easy way to put an end to their nefarious work. Wrap a bit of cotton on the end of a toothpick, dip it in rubbing alcohol and then touch each little white mass with it for a few seconds. The alcohol will seep through the waxy froth and when it reaches the insect itself sure death will result.

One treatment seldom is enough because some may be hiding in leaf sheaths or other inaccessible places, but two or three thorough treatments will destroy enough of them to stop a severe attack.

Good gardeners make it a practice to keep newly acquired plants separate from others until they are found to be free from insects and diseases.

Danger Signal

If electric lights flicker when the refrigerator or oil burner motor starts, this usually indicates a dangerously overloaded electric circuit.

'Wyndotte' Is Cozy House of 4 Rooms

Rooms Four Bedrooms Two
Closets Five
Cubage:

House 18,100 ft.
Garage 3,600 ft.
Dimensions 26' x 32'

Delightfully cozy in appearance and planning, "The Wyndotte," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is a four-room house designed for modern living.

Either a shingled or combination finish would be equally suitable and attractive for the exterior of this one-story home. Measuring 26 feet by 32 feet, the house and garage can be built on a 75-foot lot. House cubage is 18,100; cubage of the garage is 3,600 feet.

Good-Sized Bedrooms

Both bedrooms in "The Wyndotte" are of ample size. Each bedroom is well lighted and ventilated and has a large closet. The bath is centrally located between the bedrooms.

Placed at the front of the house, to leave the rear and quieter area for the sleeping quarters, the kitchen is larger than many found in today's new homes. In addition to all its modern equipment and appliances, the kitchen contains a spacious breakfast nook. Well lighted and extra pleasant because of the three windows in its front wall, the breakfast nook has full length china closets lining its side walls. You may want to have drawers installed under the cabinets so that you'll have handy storage places for your table linen and silverware.

Living Room

The living room also is attractive. Decorative honors are shared by the picture window in the front wall and the fireplace against the left wall. Book shelves are suggested for installation along the left wall from the fireplace to the front and rear walls of the living room.

Connecting the house proper and the garage is the porch or laundry; it is designed so as to serve either use with equal ease. If you should decide to use this area for the laundry, be sure to provide doors for easy access to the yard.

If you prefer to have your laundry in the basement, you should have the equipment placed under the kitchen or bath. The heating equipment should be located under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Prevents Warping

In a properly air conditioned home, the absence of warping causes the piano to stay tuned longer, and the doors and windows to open and close easier.

Vary Wall Treatment

A square room will appear less box-like if one wall is painted or prepared in a different color from the other three.

Plan Garden on Paper

Lay out the space for a garden on paper and complete a plan to scale.

Towel Ensemble

A new towel and wash cloth ensemble is decorated with pirouetting dancers in pink and white for the ballerina of the family.

Subduing the Woodwork

If windows and doors are so placed in a room that the woodwork lacks symmetry and appears disjointed, the woodwork should be painted the same color as the walls so that it won't draw attention to itself.

Swinging Doors

Doors that swing partly shut by themselves are a hazard, especially in the dark. To remove the danger pull hinge pins out and bend them very slightly by tapping with a hammer.

Enjoy Sponge Bath

The leaves of house plants should be sponged occasionally with soapy water followed by a clear rinse water. Fuzzy leaves should be left dry, however, although they should be dusted.

Basement and Cellar
The difference between basement and cellar is that a cellar has more than half its height below grade, a basement less than half.

Add Width to Windows
Brightly painted shutters on a house not only bring life and beauty to it, but give the illusion of width to windows that seem too narrow.

Keeps Tools Bright
If tools stored in the tool chest begin to rust, put a small bag or container of calcium chloride in with them. This will absorb any moisture that may be about.

EASY TO RELAMP
Pry-Lite
recessed lighting fixtures

Pry-Lite recessed light fixtures are always easy to relamp or clean. No screws or hinges to remove, you merely pull down on the frame, change the lamp and snap it up again.

Available in many sizes, shapes and finishes, Pry-Lites will give your home a modern look. See them displayed at our store.

Building Hints
Pleasing Finish
A beautiful "rubbed finish" effect may be obtained by using a flat finish varnish. This produces a soft, dull surface that can scarcely be distinguished from a hand-rubbed finish.

Paint Coverage
As a guide in ordering paint, it can be figured that a gallon will cover approximately 500 square feet and one quart is good for about 125 square feet.

Paint Room for $10
Enough top-grade paint to cover the walls and enough enamel for the woodwork of an average room can be bought for less than $10.

Dry Surface Essential
Excess moisture in wood may cause paint to blister. Always be sure that a surface to be painted is thoroughly dry before work is begun.

Rubber Tiled Stairs
When you put down a rubber tile floor in your kitchen, buy a few extra tiles and install them on the basement stairs. It will make traffic to and from the basement quieter and safer.

Cut Down Home Toil in Summer

Your summer design for living should be the simple approach. Tried and tested tricks for cutting down housekeeping should appeal to any housewife. Here are some pointers well worth considering:

Protect your living room curtains by backing them with clear plastic shower curtains. The shower curtains may be attached easily with shower bath hooks to screen draperies from dust and sudden rainstorms.

Tack plastic trim over upholstered seats of your dining room chairs. You can keep the plastic covers fresh with soap and water during the hot months and upholstery should be clean and bright when you remove the covers in the fall.

Make cool-looking white turkish toweling slip covers to protect your fine upholstery. They're not only handsome but can go right into the washing machine and need no ironing.

If you want cool, temporary slipcovers on a broiling day, just tuck fresh white sheets over chairs and sofa.

If you want to store draperies from effects of the elements and a dusty house, consider using sheets at the windows during the summer months. These are ideal for certain type windows, can be adjusted temporarily to windows as used as sheets again when removed.

Paint Remover Warning
Use care when using a liquid paint remover to take off several layers of paint. If the remover is left on too long, the softened paint will seep down into the wood pores and then getting it out is tough going.

Retirement House Is Making News

The "retirement house" is beginning to make news.

There have been occasional references in real estate circles to homes for the elderly who are living on fixed incomes, but only recently has the retirement house been recognized as a dwelling with a special set of requirements.

Here, compiled by the Tile Council of America, is a list of "musts" preferred by older persons for the home in which they will live for the rest of their lives:

A minimum amount of work and effort inside the house.

As little outdoor upkeep as possible. In one plan, the home is constructed with a low roof so that the master of the household runs no danger of falling or straining. All he has to do to make minor repairs is stand on a stable stepladder of standard height.

Plenty of air and light. Modern designs for retirement houses call for compact layouts allowing four-way ventilation and plentiful windows constructed to be easy to wash without aid of ladders.

No basement. The elderly are infirm on steps and climbing is hard on them. Up-to-date plans call for all-on-one-floor houses.

Two bathrooms or, at least, a bath-and-a-half.

Two bedrooms. A leading joy of advanced years is family and friends as overnight guests.

Compact and step-saving kitchens, arranged to eliminate extra work and effort.

Shift the Curtains

When hanging curtains back in place, it may be well to change them around so that one pair does not take all the punishment from the more sunny windows.

Easier Polishing

Furniture polish is much easier to apply if it is warmed in a container of hot water before application.

Aluminum Nails

Aluminum nails, to prevent rust measles can be used on all siding and on almost all roofing—especially redwood, red cedar and asbestos.

Snip Off High Tufts

Occasionally a wool tuft on a rug will rise above the pile surface. When this happens, just snip off the high-rising tuft so it is even with the rest of the rug.

Tie Trellised Vines

Vines should be tied to their trellises, if there's any chance of their being whipped around in winter winds.

Homemade Filler

A good filler for patching small holes or cracks in wood can be made just by mixing sawdust and wood glue.

Something Else Again

Planting a garden and maintaining it are two different things.

Why Screening Requires Paint

Window and door screens of steel, galvanized iron, copper or bronze always should be painted. Steel or iron mesh is painted to prevent rust. Copper and bronze do not rust but corrode and develop stains; therefore, they need protective coatings.

Spar varnish or special screen enamels, available in all well-stocked paint stores, are used for this work. Either of those materials can be applied with a spray gun, brush or inexpensive screen applicator made from a block of wood covered with carpet on one side.

To prevent openings in the mesh from becoming clogged, the varnish or enamel is thinned and after it is applied to each side of the screen, the screen is shaken to prevent the accumulation of drops.

Both sides of a screen are painted before the frame is painted.

Giant-Brook Brawls Get Early Start

By The Associated Press
Proving that distance is no barrier when old bosom buddies feel like exchanging a few pleasantries, the Dodgers and Giants have hooked up in a transcontinental lovers' quarrel to enliven the spring training air.

Giant manager Leo Durocher, as you might expect, touched off the spat. After all, it's spring training for him too.

"Brooklyn's in trouble if (Jackie) Robinson, (Pee Wee) Reese or (Roy) Campanella doesn't play," Leo cooed from the world champion's training site in cactus-studded Phoenix, Ariz.

Irked, Dodger vice-presidents Buzzy Bavasi and Fresco Thompson—with a surprising assist from silent Walt Alston—hurled a cross-country love note back into Leo's ear from their Vero Beach, Fla., camp.

SUMMED UP, their sentiments read something like this: "The Giant bench is lousy, one of the louisiest in baseball. Dusty Rhodes is all they got. We can't be blindfolded among our second-string outfielders and pick better ones than they have."

Duke Snider and the Dodger batboy also got into the act. Snider, peeved at comparisons between Willie Mays and himself, announced that until Wonders Willie passes him in the income tax bracket, he'll consider himself the better ball-player.

The bat boy, Charlie Digiiovanna, added a Durocher jibe as a footnote. "It looks like skinhead has his mouth in shape for the season already."

Duke Tops Virginia to Gain Berth

By The Associated Press
There's still a little matter of settling the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship tonight, but beyond that — and whatever the outcome — Duke's Blue Devils are off for their first NCAA title appearance in Madison Square Garden Tuesday.

The Blue Devils picked up the conference colors again last night by outlasting Virginia 90-77 in overtime of a semifinal game in the ACC tournament at Raleigh, N. C.

Duke has to face North Carolina State, the defending champ and 5th ranked in the Associated Press poll, in the final tonight. A victory or even a defeat will send the Blue Devils against Villanova in the NCAA first round tripleheader next week. NCS is ineligible because of probationary action by the NCAA.

Ronnie Mayes, a 6-4 scorer from the Pittsburgh area, gave Duke the boost it needed against Virginia with 34 points. Six of them came in the overtime after he had tied it at 74-64 on a field goal with 17 seconds of regulation time left.

AN "EXTRA" Virginia field goal, which might have given the Cavaliers a second tourney upset victory as well as the NCAA shot, was nullified by a timeout call from the bench with a minute left in the regular game.

Buzz Wilkinson's 32 points topped Virginia, which upset Maryland in the first round.

In other action, West Virginia and George Washington qualified for tonight's title final to decide the Southern Conference NCAA representative, while Oregon State, the northern division champ, gained a leg in the best-of-three Pacific Coast playoff by beating UCLA, the southern division winner, 82-75.

AND TEXAS TECH gained at least a tie for the Border Conference title and NCAA slot by beating New Mexico A & M 87-58. Tech could gain a clear championship tonight by defeating Texas Western. West Texas State (9-3) already has finished its season and could gain a share of the title should Tech lose.

The Southeastern, Missouri Valley, Big Ten and Ivy League conferences also could pin an official blue ribbon on their VFW: Alecca-Sottile, St. Mary's; Lawrence-Walter, Moore; De Witt-Medica, Ryan-Baker, Keyser-Beaumont, Elks.

ED ESPOSITO of St. Mary's Society reported off 21 points for high single honors. C. Canzoneri, St. Mary's, had 20.

Also among the top scorers were Joe Roche and Bob Geisler, VFW, with 19; Bill Reis, KC, 18; Herb Van Deusen, Elks, 17; George Planthaber, Moore, 17; Frank Nardi, Moore; Ray Radel, KPBA, 16.

A few quickies before we head for Hollywood Beach and a swing around the Yankee and Dodger baseball camps:

Top area coaching job of the year belongs to Bill Straub, who piloted Saugerties High to the Ulster County Athletic League crown. Straub did it in spite of the fact he lost two outstanding stars for disciplinary reasons early in the season. He rallied his forces and the result was a brilliant 16-2 record for the season.

A small miracle might be perpetrated at Fallsburgh tonight to force Middletown High into a playoff with Kingston for the No. 2 intersectional spot. The Middies will be without their No. 1 man—Steve Tomkin—and the Comets could do a George Tech.

The Kingston Bowling Association hasn't had much luck with its presidential nominees in recent years, but their selection of Mannie Colao for the next balloting is a solid, commendable choice. We know of few people who have done more for bowling than Mannie and he richly deserves election.

Players in the National Basketball Association are due for a lift in rates by one of the nation's big insurance firms. . . . Company doctors dolefully foresee an increase in heart disease among the hoopsters since the must-shoot-in-24-second rule.

Siena College has decided to give Frank Koenig a rest for the remainder of the season. Frank had a prolonged bout with the flu and it was decided to let him rest rather than risk a player who has a year of eligibility left and figures to be Siena's No. 1 performer in 1955-56.

Meanwhile, you hear rumors that Coach Danny Cunha might not return next season. But, we repeat, that's just a rumor.

The New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro League has approved a measure prohibiting teams in the league from playing exhibition games against non-member clubs in cities where franchises are established.

Mickey Burkoski tried hard but couldn't quite break Dick Tyler's all-time DUSO scoring mark of 54 points. Coach Lanky Masterson believes that records are made to be broken and gave Mickey plenty of leeway. The second best record in DUSO annals is Jay Bauer's 46 for Port Jervis.

Roosevelt High in Dutchess county won 16 straight to end a 10-year quest of the Dutchess County Central basketball title. The payoff was a 70-55 conquest of Arlington.

You won't find Monty Stickle's name on the All-DUSO when it is released Tuesday, but, in our book, the big Poughkeepsie star deserved a spot. As it was, he lost by a 6-5 vote. This is not intended to demean any of the other selections — and we abide by the majority rule of the DUSO Sports-writers Association—but this guy belonged.

Mrs. LARRY BOGERT, Syracuse University senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bogert of Stone Ridge, drew high praise in a recent issue of the Syracuse Orange.

Nancy, who won the giant slalom for coeds at the recent Orange winter carnival on the Skytop slopes, was reported to have been just one second off the winning man's time, in a similar race.

Last year Nancy won the coeds downhill race at the carnival. Although she is kept very busy in the school of education, where she's preparing to become a school teacher and reports for practice teaching duties in Fayetteville, she saves enough time for skiing.

Miss Bogert is a product of the Highmount Ski Center ski school. Beginning her career of college education at Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, before transferring to S.U., Nancy spent her Easter vacation in 1952 and 1953 at Aspen in the Colorado Rockies.

Furgol, Barber Lead Open Golf

Baton Rouge, La., March 5 (AP)—Two veteran professionals with differing styles today appeared the best in an unsteady field as the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament passed the mid-point.

Marty Furgol, 6-1 power-hitter from Lemont, Ill., and Jerry Barber, 5-5 Los Angeles precision artist, held a two-stroke lead after 36 holes, each with 134.

Although opposite in size, the two have one thing in common — consistency. Neither has been a big tourney winner, but both have been regular visitors to the pay window.

BEFORE TODAY'S round the 140-plus field was trimmed to 100, the 90 low pros and 10 low amateurs. The cutoff point for pros was 148 with amateurs above 149 dropped.

Yesterday's second round saw most of the leaders balloon up from their sub-par opening rounds, despite continued perfect golf weather, warm and clear.

The biggest blow-up came when Walter Romans of Baltimore, first day leader with a seven-under-par 65, soared to 75 for a 140 total.

The 38-year-old barber showed calm precision with his chip shots as he stroked his second straight 67, but complained "these putts just won't drop."

He said he missed an 18-inch putt on the 15th green and a three-footer on the 18th. Either would have given him the undisputed lead.

THE 37-YEAR-OLD Furgol, who shot a six-under-par 66 in the first round, had a 68 yesterday but still contended "I'm shooting better than I ever did."

Although he said he was "not putting too well," Furgol boasted, "I haven't had a bogie in two rounds."

Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kas., fired a 70 after his first round 66 for a 136 total.

Two strokes back of McGuire were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif. Wall had a 68 yesterday while Holscher shot a par-72, six strokes over his opening round.

VEJAR, an energetic, 23-year-old with a scrambling, pesky attack, left a million openings. Billy saw them but his reflexes were dulled and he often missed wildly in his desperate attempts to counter. The brain commanded but the hands and legs wouldn't respond.

"I was rusty after that long layoff (he hadn't fought since October) and I missed a lot of chances because of my inactivity," said Graham. "I don't think I lost it, though. I just can't seem to get the close ones. I thought I threw the harder punches."

"I'd like to fight him again," added Billy.

The old master, once one of the finest boxers in the game, may get his wish for "another shot." Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said the two might mix again on either April 1 or 8. Syracuse, Detroit, Cleveland, or Philadelphia may get it because the Garden's dates are filled.

Vejar was agreeable to a return bout.

"I BEAT HIM decisively," said the NYU junior from Stamford, Conn., who outweighed his rival, 152 to 148½. "The next time it will be even more so."

The swarthy, black-haired collegian beat the veteran to the punch consistently. At times he often outjabbed Billy, once one of the best jabbers of them all. Graham's best rounds were the sixth and tenth when he slugged it out. There were no knockdowns, however, and nothing near one. Vejar was sliced over the left eye in the sixth and required three stitches.

Graham's record now is 102-14-9. Vejar, unbeaten in his last eight, has a 59-4-1 record. The betting was 6-5 and pick 'em.

NFA '5' To Play Albany

Newburgh Free Academy, unbeaten DUSO League champions, will face Albany High School in the opening of the New York state intersectional tournament next Tuesday night at the Kate Walton Field House.

Albany moved into the opening game by turning back Mont Pleasant of Schenectady Friday night, 80 to 57.

TUESDAY'S GAME at the Field House will start at 8 p. m. Coach G. Warren Kias, director of athletics at KHS, said this morning. A preliminary to decide the intramural championship at the high school will be played at 6:30 p. m.

Fallsburgh Central tonight, the Middies will meet Nott Terrace Tuesday night on the up-state court.

Meanwhile, the state intersectional will get underway next Tuesday night at the Kate Walton Field House with unbeaten Newburgh Free Academy meeting either Albany or Mont Pleasant. On the same night, Kingston or Middletown, depending upon tonight's clash in Fallsburgh, will play Nott Terrace.

If the DUSO has a finalist, the game will be played in Kingston. If there are no DUSO finalists, the championship game will be held at Troy.

Father Time Adds Graham to Fold

New York, March 5 (AP)—One by one the oldtimers fade away. Sugar Ray Robinson, Kid Gavilan, Paddy Demarco, Roland LaStarza and now Billy Graham.

None will admit he is through although Father Time has a stranglehold on all. It was the years—14 long ones in the ring and 125 fights—more than Chico Vejar which caused Graham's downfall in Madison Square Garden last night.

True, the 32-year-old New Yorker lost only by a split decision and the three officials had it close. But it was the way he lost it more than the tight score that will be remembered by most of the 4,804 fans who paid $15.246 for the telecast and broadcast 10-rounder.

Judges Jack Gordon (5-4-1) and Bert Grant (6-4) voted for Vejar. Referee Al Berl had it (5-4-1) for Graham. The Associated Press had Vejar ahead (6-3-1).

VEJAR, an energetic, 23-year-old with a scrambling, pesky attack, left a million openings. Billy saw them but his reflexes were dulled and he often missed wildly in his desperate attempts to counter. The brain commanded but the hands and legs wouldn't respond.

Giant-Brook Brawls Get Early Start

By The Associated Press

Proving that distance is no barrier when old bosom buddies feel like exchanging a few pleasantries, the Dodgers and Giants have hooked up in a transcontinental lovers' quarrel to enliven the spring training air.

Giant manager Leo Durocher, as you might expect, touched off the spat. After all, it's spring training for him too.

"Brooklyn's in trouble if (Jackie) Robinson, (Pee Wee) Reese or (Roy) Campanella doesn't play," Leo cooed from the world champion's training site in cactus-studded Phoenix, Ariz.

Irked, Dodger vice-presidents Buzz Bavasi and Fresco Thompson—with a surprising assist from Aileen W. Alston, a cross-country lover note back into Leo's ear from their Vero Beach, Fla., camp.

SUMMED UP, their sentiments read something like this: "The Giant bench is lousy, one of the louisiest in baseball, Dusty Rhodes is all they got. We can go blindfolded among our second-string outfielders and pick better ones than they have."

Snider and the Dodger batboy also got into the act. Snider, peeved at comparisons between Willie Mays and himself, announced that until Wonder Willie passes him in the income tax bracket, he'll consider himself the better ballplayer.

The bat boy, Charlie Digiovanna, added a Durocher jibe as a footnote. "It looks like skinhead has his mouth in shape for the season already."

Although opposite in size, the two have one thing in common—consistency. Neither has been a big tourney winner, but both have been regular visitors to the pay window.

BEFORE TODAY'S round the 140-pins field was trimmed to 100, the 90 low pros and 10 low amateurs. The cutoff point for pros was 148 with amateurs above 149 dropped.

Yesterday's second round saw most of the leaders balloon up from their subpar opening rounds, despite continued perfect golf weather, warm and clear.

The biggest blow-up came when Walter Romans of Baltimore, first day leader with a seven-under-par 65, soared to 75 for a 140 total.

The 38-year-old barber showed calm precision with his chip shots as he stroked his second straight 67, but complained "those putts just won't drop."

He said he missed an 18-inch putt on the 15th green and a three-footer on the 18th. Either would have given him the undisputed lead.

THE 37-YEAR-OLD Furgol, who shot a six-under-par 66 in the first round, had a 68 yesterday but still contended "I'm shooting better than I ever did."

Although he said he was "not putting too well," Furgol boasted, "I haven't had a bogie in two rounds."

Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kas., fired a 70 after his first round 66 for a 136 total.

Two strokes back of McGuire were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif. Wall had a 68 yesterday while Holscher shot a par-72, six strokes over his opening round.

A few quickies before we head for Hollywood Beach and a swing around the Yankee and Dodger baseball camps:

Top area coaching job of the year belongs to Bill Straub, who piloted Saugerties High to the Ulster County Athletic League crown. Straub did it in spite of the fact he lost two outstanding stars for disciplinary reasons early in the season. He rallied his forces and the result was a brilliant 16-2 record for the season.

A small miracle might be perpetrated at Fallsburgh tonight to force Middletown High into a playoff with Kingston for the No. 2 intersectional spot. The Middies will be without their No. 1 man—Steve Tomkin—and the Comets could do a George Tech.

The Kingston Bowling Association hasn't had much luck with its presidential nominees in recent years, but their selection of Manny Colao for the next balloting is a solid, commendable choice. We know of few people who have done more for bowling than Manny and he richly deserves election.

Players in the National Basketball Association are due for a lift in rates by one of the nation's big insurance firms. . . . Company doctors dolefully foresee an increase in heart disease among the hoopsters since the must-shoot-in-24-seconds rule.

Siena College has decided to give Frank Koenig a rest for the remainder of the season. Frank had a prolonged bout with the flu and it was decided to let him rest rather than risk a player who has a year of eligibility left and figures to be Siena's No. 1 performer in 1955-56.

Meanwhile, you hear rumors that Coach Danny Cunha might not return next season. But, we repeat, that's just a rumor.

The New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro League has approved a measure prohibiting teams in tirage from playing exhibition games against non-member clubs in cities where franchises are established.

Mickey Burkoski tried hard but couldn't quite break Dick Tyler's all-time DUSO scoring mark of 54 points. Coach Lanky Masterson believes that records are made to be broken and gave Mickey plenty of leeway. The second best record in DUSO annals is Jay Bauer's 46 for Port Jervis.

Roosevelt High in Dutchess county won 16 straight to end a 10-year quest of the Dutchess County Central basketball title. The payoff was a 70-55 conquest of Arlington.

You won't find Monty Stickles' name on the All-DUSO when it is released Tuesday, but, in our book, the big Poughkeepsie star deserved a spot. As it was, he lost by a 6-5 vote. This is not intended to demean any of the other selections—and we abide by the majority rule of the DUSO Sports-writers' Association—but this guy belonged.

NANCY BOBERT, Syracuse University senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bobert of Stone Ridge, drew high praise in a recent issue of the Syracuse Orange.

Nancy, who won the giant slalom for coeds at the recent Orange winter carnival on the Skytop slopes, was reported to have been just one second off the winning man's time, in a similar race.

Last year Nancy won the coeds downhill race at the carnival. Although she is kept very busy in the school of education, where she's preparing to become a school teacher and reports for practice teaching duties in Fayetteville, she saves enough time for skiing.

Miss Bobert is a product of the Highmount Ski Center ski school. Beginning her career of college education at Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, before transferring to S.U., Nancy spent the Easter vacation in 1952 and 1953 at Aspen in the Colorado Rockies.

Furgol, Barber Lead Open Golf

Baton Rouge, La., March 5 (AP)—Two veteran professionals with differing styles today appeared the best in an unsteady field as the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament passed the mid-point.

Marty Furgol, 61-power-hitter from Lemont, Ill., and Jerry Barber, 35, Los Angeles, precision artist, held a two-stroke lead after 36 holes, each with 134.

Although opposite in size, the two have one thing in common—consistency. Neither has been a big tourney winner, but both have been regular visitors to the pay window.

Shuffle Loop Playoffs Start

The first playoff match between Rookie's Tavern and Lincoln Park Inn to determine the Ulster County Tavern Shuffleboard League championship, will be held Sunday at Lincoln Park Inn.

Both clubs finished in a two-way deadlock for first place with records of 87 victories and 33 losses.

The following Sunday, March 13, the two top clubs will meet at Rookie's Tavern to decide the titleholder.

NFA '5' To Play Albany

Newburgh Free Academy, unbeaten DUSO League champions, will face Albany High School in the opening of the New York state intersectional tournament next Tuesday night at the Kate Walton Field House.

Albany moved into the opening game by turning back Mont Pleasant of Schenectady Friday night, 80 to 57.

TUESDAY'S GAME at the Field House will start at 8 p. m., Coach G. Warren Kias, director of athletics at KHS, said this morning. A preliminary to decide the intramural championship at the high school will be played at 6:30 p. m.

Providing Middletown disposes of Fallsburgh Central tonight, the Middies will meet Nott Terrace Tuesday night on the up-state court.

FATHER TIME adds Graham to fold

New York, March 5 (AP)—One by one the oldtimers fade away. Star Ray Robinson, Kid Gavilan, Paddy Demarco, Roland LaStarza and now Billy Graham. None will admit he is through although Father Time has a stranglehold on all. It was the years—14 long ones in the ring and 125 fights—more than Chico Vejar, which caused Graham's downfall in Madison Square Garden last night.

True, the 32-year-old New Yorker lost only by a split decision and the three officials had it close. But it was the way he lost more than the tight score that will be remembered by most of the 4,804 fans who paid $15.246 for the telecast and broadcast 10-rounder.

Judges Jack Gordon (5-4-1) and Bert Grant (6-4) voted for Vejar. Referee Al Berl had it 5-4-1 for Graham. The Associated Press had Vejar ahead (6-3-1).

VEJAR, an energetic, 23-year-old, was scrambling, pesky at attack, left a million openings. Billy saw them but his reflexes were dulled and he often missed wildly in his desperate attempts to counter. The brain commanded but the hands and legs wouldn't respond.

"I was rusty after that long layoff (he hadn't fought since October) and I missed a lot of chances because of my inactivity," said Graham. "I don't think I lost it, though. I just can't seem to get the close ones. I thought I threw the harder punches."

"I'd like to fight him again," added Billy.

The old master, once one of the finest boxers in the game, may get his wish for "another shot." Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said the two might mix again on either April 1 or 8. Syracuse, Detroit, Cleveland, or Philadelphia may get it because the Garden's dates are filled.

Vejar was agreeable to a return bout.

Why We Say--

AMERICA

The Western Hemisphere became known as the Americas by accident. The continents were named after Amerigo Vesputti, a navigator who wrote up four alleged voyages after Columbus' discovery. Vesputti's stories were translated by a mapmaker named Waldseemüller who named the New World 'America'. It is now doubted that Vesputti ever made any of the voyages he claimed.

City, County Free Of Auto Accidents

Associated Press reports of a number of traffic accidents in the metropolitan area and northern New Jersey were not duplicated in Kingston and Ulster county despite icy roads, a check by The Freeman this morning indicated.

State police at Highland reported that there were "icy spots" on Route 9W and that secondary roads were slippery. Similar reports as to road conditions were received from other troopers in the area and the Ulster county sheriff's office.

NO ACCIDENTS were reported in Kingston or Ulster county. A couple of complaints of cars stuck and blocking driveways were received at city police headquarters.

A light steady rain, at times mixed with sleet, fell in Kingston this morning, beginning to clear somewhat toward noon.

Taylor Reported Better

The condition of Robert John Taylor, 19, of Hoboken, N. J., who was found early Monday morning along route 9W in Port Ewen suffering from severe head injuries, was reported "apparently good" at Kingston Hospital this morning. Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg said Taylor was still not sufficiently clear to be questioned effectively. He regained full consciousness yesterday, it was reported. Cause of his injuries is still unknown, according to County Investigator Arthur Brown.

Blood Bank Drawing Scheduled March 10

Saugerties, March 5—The VFW Blood Bank, sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, has scheduled a drawing for Thursday, March 10, at the VFW Hall.

The committee pointed out that inasmuch as no drawing has been held in the past two months increased effort is needed to fulfill the present need.

In a recent report of the Blood Bank activities it was revealed that more than 177 pints of life-giving blood was given to patients during the 12-months period from February, 1954 to February of this year.

An indication as to how many were served by the Blood Bank is a matter of simple arithmetic as two pints of blood on the average is given to each patient.

Calls for Boost

140 miles northwest of here. A similar increase for 1,200,000 civil service workers, costing more than 200 million dollars a year, will be considered by the committee the week after next.

I'm sure the committee will give them the same increase we gave the postal employees," Murray said.

THE SENATE Post Office Committee has voted 10 per cent raises for both post office and civil service employees.

Murray did not say what he considered a fair postal rate increase. But he made clear that he favored raises on all present classes of mail.

Postmaster General Summerfield has proposed rate hikes estimated at bringing in around 330 million dollars of new revenue each year. Of this total, a proposed one-cent increase in the charge of ordinary letters now carried for three cents would account for 260 million dollars.

Also requested is a 30 per cent increase in second class rates on newspapers, magazines and other commercial publications, and a 25 per cent increase in third class rates covering advertising circulars and bulk mail other than parcel post.

Trainee Stricken By Blood Germ

Ft. Dix, N. J., March 5—A Massachusetts trainee has been stricken with a serious blood stream infection which authorities said is similar to the ailment which killed Pvt. Irwin Weinrib here Feb. 22.

Pvt. Richard A. Robinson, 21, Norwell, Mass., was flown last night to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D. C. Doctors wanted to have available Walter Reed's artificial kidney apparatus in case of any kidney complication.

THE ARMY public information officer said Robinson, who was in serious condition from meningococemia, had no known contact with the soldier who died.

The death of Pvt. Weinrib, 18, of Far Rockaway, N. Y., touched off a probe of medical treatment here, when allegations of mistreatment and improper care, attributed to a letter to Weinrib's girl friend, appeared in print.

Robinson's illness was discovered Wednesday morning when he reported on sick call. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Robinson, have been with him since and expressed satisfaction with the treatment given their son, the army said.

Ike for Fair Prices
Washington, March 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower has asked Congress to renew a law under which the government can recover excessive prices paid under defense contracts. He asked in a special message that the Contract Renegotiation Act be renewed at least until Dec. 31, 1956 "to assure that that United States gets what it needs for defense at fair prices." The law originally was enacted during World War 2, when contracts had to be let for production of war items before the fair cost of making them could be determined. It has since expired.

Sampson Jailed As Witness in Aronowitz Death

New York, March 5 (AP)—Joseph Sampson, 31, has been held without bail as a material witness in the ride-slaying of Joseph Aronowitz as authorities indicated a solution of the case is near.

Sampson, brought from Baltimore yesterday, was taken before Brooklyn Judge Nathan R. Sobel last night and ordered held.

Both Sampson and Aronowitz had been slated to go on trial in Baltimore last Feb. 16 in an attempted armed robbery. Both men had indicated they would testify for the state.

On Feb. 15, Aronowitz's body was found in his car. Police said the 40-year-old ex-convict had been shot to death to keep him from talking.

LAST WEEK, Sampson was convicted of assault, robbery and conspiracy in the Baltimore robbery case.

Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver said yesterday that Sampson has "agreed to tell all he knows" about the Aronowitz slaying.

August Robles, suspected as a triggerman in the Aronowitz murder, was killed in a battle with police a week ago last Sunday.

Aronowitz's wife, after her husband was slain, told police: "You'd better protect Joe Sampson. They're going to get him next."

BOTH MEN were expected to testify against Martin Yamin, 32, a former Baltimore police magistrate, and John Ditamasso, Yamin and Ditamasso were accused of helping plot the Baltimore robbery.

Yamin, who has denied any knowledge of the Aronowitz slaying, is under $10,000 bail here as a material witness in the murder case.

Hughes Is Fined For Leaving Scene
Leo James Hughes, 56, of Star route, Rosendale, was arrested Thursday by state police of the Kingston Station charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest Schirmer, pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Troopers said it was reported to them at 2:30 a. m. Thursday that a telephone pole on Route 9W about a half mile north of Malden was down.

Trooper Raymond Kowalsky investigated and reported that the pole was on the west shoulder on a curve and had been knocked down by a dual-wheel truck which had left the scene. The truck had been traveling south.

Later, following investigation, Kowalsky arrested Hughes in Highland. The truck driven by Hughes belonged to the Highland Stuffed Poultry, Inc., of Schenectady, troopers said.

Ike for Fair Prices

Washington, March 5 (P)—President Eisenhower has asked Congress to renew a law under which the government can recover excessive prices paid under defense contracts. He asked in a special message that the Contract Renegotiation Act be renewed at least until Dec. 31, 1956 "to assure that the United States gets what it needs for defense at fair prices." The law originally was enacted during World War 2, when contracts had to be let for production of war items before the fair cost of making them could be determined. It has since expired.

New York, March 5 (P)—Thomas J. Curran, Manhattan Republican leader, says that if the GOP-controlled Legislature adopts pending proposals to permit rent increases, the Republican vote in New York city will be cut "tremendously."

He says the proposals are "entirely indefensible" and "bad for the people of our city and the state."

Curran, who was secretary of state under former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, told a news conference yesterday that legislative leaders did not consult New York city GOP leaders about the rent proposals, and he thinks they should have done so.
